About the Organizer	The Academy for International Business Officials (AIBO) is an educational and training institution directly under the Ministry of Commerce of the People's Republic of China.

	Established in 1980, AIBO is located in Changping District, Beijing, about 30 kilometers from Beijing Capital International Airport. It boasts comprehensive infrastructure to provide services such as accommodation, catering, training and meetings for trainees. One of the main responsibilities of AIBO is to implement human resources development and cooperation projects, especially training courses for officials. The Academy serves as the main base for China's foreign aid training, offering both off-line and on-line training in China and overseas. Backed by the Ministry of Commerce and in close cooperation with China's top think tanks, research institutes and universities, AIBO brings together a large number of China's top experts and scholars to provide intellectual support for foreign aid training. It has developed a number of high-quality foreign aid training projects in the fields of trade and investment, international economic cooperation, governance and public management, which have proved to be fruitful. Since 1998, AIBO has successfully held over 2,000 training sessions for officials from developing countries (including 131 ministerial seminars), benefiting nearly 70,000 trainees from other developing countries around the world. AIBO will adhere to the guidance of Xi Jinping Thought on Socialism with Chinese Characteristics for a New Era, and take the important concepts, including a community with a shared future for mankind, pursuing the greater good and shared interests, and sincerity, real results, amity, good faith, mutual benefit and inclusiveness, as strategic guidance and fundamental principles to be followed. It will facilitate the joint efforts in implementing major initiatives such as the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) and the Global Development Initiative (GDI), and continue to help developing countries accelerate their development by sharing China's experience and programs.
Training content	Background: Currently, intensified geopolitical competition, together with frequent natural disasters and public health risks, is exerting unprecedented pressure on the restructuring of global industrial and supply chains. This seminar is designed to implement the important initiative of the leader on “safeguarding the resilience and stability of global industrial and supply chains”, as well as the external commitments made at the Third Belt and Road Forum for International Cooperation, including “deepening cooperation in digital and green supply chains, and jointly enhancing risk prevention and control capabilities”. For countries along the Belt and Road, ensuring the security of industrial and supply chains is not merely an economic issue, but a strategic matter that concerns development sovereignty and the stability of people's livelihoods. By systematically studying China's comprehensive governance experience in logistics monitoring, industrial chains, supply chains, and other areas, it will accelerate the deep integration of cross-border industrial chains, supply chains, and value chains with countries along the Belt and Road, speed up the process of regional economic integration, and stabilize foreign trade and investment. This will help various countries improve their early warning and emergency response mechanisms for domestic industrial and supply chains, enhance regional collaborative risk resistance capabilities, and thus build a strong security foundation for the high-quality development of the Belt and Road Initiative. Objectives: This seminar aims to impart knowledge and practices from China in the fields of industrial chains, supply chains, and production safety, providing talent support for promoting the security of industrial and supply chains in countries along the Belt and Road. Simultaneously, it serves as a platform for officials from various countries to exchange ideas, facilitate policy communication, foster consensus on the security of industrial and supply chains among Belt and Road partner countries, and jointly build a more resilient and sustainable regional economic security network. Content: The seminar lectures will primarily cover topics including China's national conditions and Chinese modernization, the governance philosophy of Chinese leadership, the Belt and Road Initiative and the Global Development Initiative, China's poverty alleviation policies and practices, new developments in China's cross-border e-commerce, trends and prospects for cross-border industrial chain collaboration, etc. Methods: Invite Chinese officials, experts and scholars in relevant fields to give lectures on special topics; organize seminars and exchanges between participants and experts, and among participants; visit related departments in Beijing and other cities for field study.
