In response to strong needs for higher level professionals in an increasingly globalized society, GSIR launched a PhD Program in September 2015. Targeting future leaders in international organizations, public organizations and/or governments, the PhD Program aims at fostering high level professionals playing an important role in international arena with theoretical, analytical, and practical abilities as well as fostering researchers to operate effectively in international society. IUJ is Japan’s oldest English-based graduate school, with 100% of its regular courses offered in English. IUJ offers a friendly and exciting academic environment in which the views, values, ideas and experiences of students from about 60 countries are not only shared, but also analyzed and reexamined thoroughly through continuous interaction among students and faculty members. All faculty members of the GSIR are competent academics, since they are actively involved in research, witnessed by publications in highly ranked academic journals. What we offer our students is a highly educational program that is designed to guide them to ask the right questions and to master the use of scientific tools provided by social science for objective, critical and logical analyses of socio-economic observations. With a solid curriculum accompanied by rigorous training that is unique to the GSIR, the dedicated faculty members all look forward to welcoming new students.

International University of Japan	Graduate School of International Management	Select MBA Program or Japan-Global Development Program	○	×	We will request applicants to submit the necessary documents by email later.	https://www.iuj.ac.jp/admis/	Our MBA program was started in 1988 at the first US-style business school in Japan, offering all courses in English. From February 20, 2018, GSIM has proudly obtained accreditation from AACSB International, the world's leading authority on quality assurance of business schools. IUJ has become one of the four AACSB accredited universities in Japan up to date, and the first accredited English-medium university in Japan, offering graduate degree programs. The uniqueness of IUJ comes from its campus environment. About 360 students from about 60 countries and faculty members live together in the residential campus, which enables students and faculty members to create close connections and interact with each other day and night. We look forward to applications from many african students who want to persue an MBA in Japan among international students and develop Africa-Japan relationship in business.
